GAINES STREET FEST 2012

BY LOCALS FOR EVERYONE

LAST YEAR

Gaines Street was all torn up. Shops were in trouble and the city didn't seem too helpful. A group of locals who worked, lived, and played in the neighborhood kicked around the idea of a music fest. Not only did it actually happen, it turned out amazing. Anything worth doing is worth doing twice, so here we are again, throwing ourselves the biggest party in town.

Over 80 bands playing for everyone to enjoy, free. Local restaurants and food trucks, not a McDonalds in sight. Anything you could want to buy, drink, or do, all packed into one awesome day on Gaines Street.

But we wouldn't be here if not for everybody pitching in. The whole festival is volunteer run and organized by the unflappable Taylor Biro (and if you see her at the bar today, buy her a beer. She's earned it). She keeps everyone pointed in the right direction, but we all made it happen. Go us!

TAYLOR SAYS

Thank you to Hank for his never ending counsel, optimistic support, and for creating this incredible zine.
Thank you to Dan for all his insight and dedication.
Thank you to Drew Callahan for the amazing flyer and shirt design.
Thank you to Brad Fannon for going above and beyond with supporting the fest.
Thank you Max Heerle for his diligence and hard work.
Thank you to Stephan Peddler for being there from day one and always providing a solution to our problems.
Thank you Jake Bopp, Jack Vermillion, Natasha Morea, The Roller Girls, Brian Giblet, The Gulf Specimen Marine Lab, and the Community PA.
Thank you to all the sponsors.
Thank you to all the bands and shops on Gaines Street and thank you to everyone for coming out today!

AND HANK WOULD LIKE TO SAY

Holy crap, Taylor, you did it again.
Next year, band parade.

And a very special
